

PERFORMERS

| | |
|--------------------|--|
| Joseph Lauria | Eric Poole, PMO, Chief of Staff Alex Flemming, law clerk |
| Laurie Scattergood | Tommy Langavoolin, Defence Minister & Party Whip |
| Tim Westhead | Scotty, chicken delivery girl Peter Tucker, Minister of Regional Development |
| Garret Lee | Len Bencaster, Minister of Finance David Paul, journalist |
| Margo Rodgers | Marc Branois, Prime Minister Maria Terrano, judge |
| Ian Coppin | Cathy Freeman, Minister of Heritage Richard, boyfriend of Lily |
| Patti Wilson | Julia, Calgary energy executive |
| Rachel Downey | Lily, Maria's daughter |

Four Stories:
PMO, One-Party Rule,
Lily, Death of the Alberta Report

From the Director:

Nigel Wright cuts a cheque. Stephen Harper determines to save us from the criminals. Rob Ford insists that befriending criminals helps make him the best mayor ever. Is it a bold idea or just plain wrong that altruism, even when laced with egoism, makes society better? A Canadian minority federal government faces non-confidence. Defeat could lead to one-party rule with no effective opposition. A ruthless businesswoman unexpectedly shares truth with a reporter. A young law clerk tries to romance a judge into a needed relationship and a fight over fried chicken shows someone cares. Weaving four strangely moving stories about generous deeds, Healey's gloriously barbed comedy questions the selfless act. Which may have been precisely Brian Mulroney's motive when he advised staff to "Slit her throat" to keep a cabinet minister from embarrassing his government.

PRODUCTION

| | |
|-------------------------------|---|
| Producer | Carolyn Wilson |
| Stage Manager | Zac Mansfield |
| Set Design | Carolyn Wilson |
| Lighting Design | Phil Ireland, Zac Mansfield |
| Lighting Operation | John Lunman |
| Sound Design & Operation | Michele LaPointe |
| Costume Design | Andra Kelly Sheri Pereira |
| Costume Acquisition | The Company |
| Props | Michele Lapointe Zac Mansfield |
| Set Construction & Decoration | Craig Irons Jeff Kellar Michele Lapointe Joan Taylor Joel Tomlinson |
| Photography & Poster Graphics | Phil Ireland |
| Facebook Administration | Laurie Scattergood |
| Front of House | Christy Chase, Craig Irons, Jeff Kellar, Sheri Pereira, Phil Stott Joan Taylor |

With a little musical help from:

Joe Cocker
Supertramp
Fraggle Rock
AC/DC
Seeds of Kindness

The 40th Season:
Dedicated to DSP's
Adventurous Audience